Father DARKLEAF'S Column

BY C.H.R.

I'm not what you might call a "holiday" or "vacation" fan.

July Fourth didn't even get me awfully hot when I was a kid throwing fire-crackers.

I did find out that you could hold a lighted fire-cracker in your hand provided you held it end lightly so it would explode out of the other end. But don't try it, kids, it doesn't always work!

I've been fishing dozens and dozens of times in my day but never yet had enough luck to catch more than one or two and that wasn't worth the time.

And most of the beaches I've been to were inhabited by more mosquitos than bathing beauties.

For me there's more to reading a good detective story than riding a leap-the-dips. I'd rather clean up a littered desk than pursue in a grandstand.

Maybe editors are consumed peculiar critters and somedays they will have open season on 'em.

Mother Brightleaf has raked me over the coals for telling all about her in this here now column, so I'll continue to talk about myself.

So now I report that after all these years I have given up. I haven't puffed a fag for cigarettes! Bowditch it's not fourteen days and nights! I would like to power forward, when I used to smoke two packs a day.

But my pipe has worked overtime.

Height of confidence: letting your wife swat a golf ball from your tummy as a tee!

Rev. Thompson Back from Two Revivals

Rev. W. M. Thompson who has been engaged in revival meetings in Lynchburg and Brookneal has returned to Appomattox and expects to be in his pulpit at Liberty church every Sunday during July and August. He will also conduct the Wednesday night prayer services, and a plans to make both the prayer meetings and the Sunday night service largely musical. Revival meetings will be held at Liberty church, beginning Sunday, August 20, with the Rev. R. S. Booker, of Brookneal, as exchange evangelist.

Va. Republicans Nominate Wise And McWane

Republicans of the state had returned to their homes today after a two-day convention by nominating Fred W. McWane, of Lynchburg, for governor and Henry W. Wise of Kiptopeke, for United States senator.

Named as running mates were Powell Royal, of Tazewell, for lieutenant governor, and Clarence R. Ahalt, of Arlington county, for attorney general. The ticket was hailed as representative of the state—Eastern Shore, Southwest, Piedmont and the densely populated north.

The warmest contest is expected to develop between Major Wise and Senator Harry F. Byrd. The latter will be seeking election to the place of Governor McWane.

Upies by appointment. The keynote of the republican convention was an attack on Byrd's election.

Mr. McWane will contend against the successful democratic candidate in the three-year primary race. He will not know his rival's name until after the democratic primary August 1.

The delegates are George Peery, Joseph T. Deal and W. Worth Smith.

In brief speeches of acceptance, the republican nominees promised their best efforts for victory. Major Wise asserted that he would not be elected if the republicans of the state would do as much as he would attempt in the campaign.

Mr. McWane urged he votes to remember that votes and not words are required to elect a governor.

Except in the case of Royal, the candidates were nominated by the delegates.</
